ARPC no longer mailing AF Form 526

by Jackie Bing
ARPC Program Management director

DENVER – The Air Reserve Personnel Center has discontinued the mailing of AF Forms 526, ANG/USAFR Point Credit Summary, to Air Force Reserve members. ANG and Reserve members have been receiving the form annually since October 1972. Members are now required to use the virtual Personnel Center to print a copy of your point credit information.

Additionally, the form itself (AF Form 526) will be eliminated and no longer placed on microfilm. Point credit information will reside in data form in the Military Personnel Data System and will be obtained by pulling products from the system.

Verification of Reservists' service will be made using these products. Reservists should faithfully print their summary of points through the vPC and maintain the copies in personal files just as many reservists currently do with leave and earnings statements and other important documents.

This change promotes the use of the vPC, and self-service to reservists ... both transformation goals. Whether at home, at work or deployed members have the means of accessing their point credit information. Members may contact HQ ARPC/DPPK at toll free 1800-525-0102 for questions and concerns on credit of points. Members who want to access the vPC, can go to www.afpc.randolph.af.mil/vs/
